United International Holding Company

A Listed Joint- Stock Company

Articles of Association of United International Holding

(Listed Joint-Stock Company)

Chapter One: Incorporation of the Company

Article One: Incorporation

Pursuant to the provisions of the Companies Law issued under Royal Decree No. (M/132), dated 01/12/1443H, and its Executive Regulations, this Company is incorporated as a Saudi Joint Stock Company in accordance with the following:

Article Two: Company Name

United International Holding - (Listed Joint Stock Company.)

Article Three: The Company's Head Office

The head office of the Company is located in Al Khobar

Article Four: Objectives of the Company

The company shall carry out and do the following purposes:

Item	Category
Financial activities and insurance activities	Activities of holding companies, which are entities that acquire assets by owning a controlling share of the capital of a group of subsidiaries, and whose primary activity is the ownership of that group.

The company shall run its business in accordance with applicable regulations after obtaining the necessary licenses from the competent authorities, if any.

Article Five: Term of the Company

The duration of the Company shall be ninety-nine (99) years, commencing from the date of its registration in the commercial register. This duration may be extended by a resolution issued by the Ordinary General Assembly at least one year before the expiry of the term.

Article Six: Participation and Ownership in Companies

The Company may establish companies in accordance with the Companies Law and its Implementing Regulations. It may also have an interest in or participate in any form whatsoever with companies or entities engaged in similar activities or that may assist it in achieving its objectives. The Company may own shares or stakes in such companies, merge with them, integrate into them, or affiliate with them. Furthermore, the Company may dispose of such shares or stakes provided that such disposal does not include brokerage in their trading.

Article Seven: Company Head Office – Additional Article

The Company's head office shall be in the city of Al-Khobar in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. The Board of Directors may, in accordance with applicable laws and regulations in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, establish branches, offices, or agencies for the Company both within and outside the Kingdom.

Chapter Two: Capital and Shares

Article Eight: Capital

The issued capital of the Company is set at Seven Hundred and Fifty Million Saudi Riyals (SAR 750,000,000), divided into Seventy-Five Million (75,000,000) nominal shares of equal value, with a nominal value of Ten Saudi Riyals (SAR 10) per share. All shares are ordinary shares issued against cash contributions. The fully paid-up cash capital amounts to Seven Hundred and Fifty Million Saudi Riyals (SAR 750,000,000), and all cash amounts paid towards the issued capital have been deposited with a licensed bank.

Article Nine: Subscription to Shares

The Shareholders have subscribed to the entirety of the Company's issued capital, totaling SAR 750,000,000, which has been paid in full.

Article Ten: Issuance of Shares

The company's shares shall be nominal shares. They may be split into shares with a lower nominal value or consolidated into shares with a higher nominal value. Shares may also be issued at a premium; in such case, the premium amount shall be recorded under a separate item within shareholders' equity and used as determined by the Board of Directors, in compliance with the regulations and controls set by the competent authority. Such premium shall not be distributed as profits to shareholders. A share shall be indivisible vis-à-vis the company; if it is jointly owned by multiple persons, they must appoint one representative to exercise the rights pertaining to the share, and such co-owners shall be jointly liable for the obligations arising from share ownership.

Article Eleven: Shares Trading

The Company's shares shall be traded in the securities market in accordance with the relevant laws and regulations.

Article Twelve: Issuance of Preferred or Convertible Shares and Their Terms

The Ordinary General Assembly may issue preferred shares or decide on their terms or convert them in accordance with the provisions of Islamic Sharia and based on the rules and regulations set by the competent authority. The Ordinary General Assembly may also issue convertible shares based on the Company's option and in accordance with the terms and conditions set by the Company, and according to the provisions of Islamic Sharia and the rules and regulations issued by the competent authority.

Article Thirteen: Purchase and Sale of the Company's Shares

The Company may purchase its own shares, and it may also purchase its shares for allocation to its employees under the Employee Share Program, in accordance with the regulations set by the competent authority. The Company may also sell treasury shares in accordance with the rules and procedures established by the competent authority.

Article Fourteen: Issuance of Sukuk and Bonds

The Company is authorized to issue debt instruments or tradable financing sukuk in compliance with Islamic Sharia principles, the regulations of the financial market, and any other applicable laws and regulations.

Article Fifteen: Capital Increase

1. The Extraordinary General Assembly may decide to increase the Company's share capital, provided that the capital has been fully paid. It is not required for the share capital to be fully paid if the unpaid portion relates to shares issued in exchange for the conversion of debt instruments or financing sukuk into shares, and the conversion period has not yet expired.
2. The Extraordinary General Assembly may, in all cases, allocate the newly issued shares in the capital increase, or a portion thereof, to employees of the Company, its subsidiaries, or some of them, or any combination thereof. Shareholders shall not exercise preemptive rights when the Company issues shares allocated to employees.
3. Any shareholder owning shares at the time the Extraordinary General Assembly issues a resolution approving the capital increase shall have preemptive rights to subscribe for the new shares issued in exchange for cash contributions. Such shareholders shall be notified of their preemptive rights through the disclosure mechanisms approved under the relevant rules and regulations, specifying the capital increase decision, subscription terms, subscription period, and its start and end dates.

4. The Extraordinary General Assembly may suspend the preemptive rights of shareholders to subscribe for a capital increase in exchange for cash contributions or grant such preemptive rights to non-shareholders if it deems that doing so serves the Company's interest.

5. A shareholder shall have the right to sell or transfer the preemptive rights, whether for monetary consideration or without consideration, in accordance with the applicable regulations.

6. Subject to the provisions of paragraph (4) above, new shares shall be allocated to holders of preemptive rights who have requested subscription, in proportion to their ownership of the total preemptive rights resulting from the capital increase, provided that no shareholder receives more than the number of new shares requested. The remaining new shares shall be allocated to holders of preemptive rights who have requested more than their respective entitlements, provided that no shareholder receives more than the number of shares requested. Any remaining shares shall be offered to others, unless the Extraordinary General Assembly decides otherwise or the Capital Market Law provides otherwise.

Article Sixteen: Capital Reduction

The Extraordinary General Assembly may decide to reduce the Company's share capital if it exceeds the Company's needs or if the Company has incurred losses. In the latter case only, the share capital may be reduced below the minimum limit stipulated in the Companies Law. A decision to reduce capital shall not be issued except after presenting a statement to the General Assembly, prepared by the Board of Directors, explaining the reasons for the reduction, the Company's obligations, and the impact of the reduction on fulfilling these obligations. This statement shall be accompanied by a special report prepared by the auditors regarding the reasons for the reduction, the obligations of the Company, and the effect of the reduction on these obligations. If the reduction results from capital exceeding the Company's needs, the creditors must be invited to submit any objections to the reduction at least forty-five (45) days prior to the date set for the Extraordinary General Assembly meeting to decide on the reduction. The invitation shall include a statement showing the capital amount before and after the reduction, the date of the meeting, and the effective date of the reduction. If any creditor objects to the reduction and submits the required documents to the Company within the specified period, the Company must either pay the creditor's debt immediately or provide sufficient security for its settlement if it is deferred. A creditor who notified the Company of their objection and whose debt is not immediately settled, or who has not been provided with adequate security, may submit a request to the competent judicial authority before the scheduled date of the Extraordinary General Assembly meeting. The competent judicial authority may, in this case, order the payment of the debt, require adequate security to be provided, or postpone the holding of the meeting, as appropriate.

Chapter Three: Board of Directors

Article Seventeen: Board of Directors

(a) The Company shall be managed by a Board of Directors composed of six (6) members, who must be natural persons. They shall be elected by the Ordinary General Assembly of shareholders for a term not exceeding four years.

(b) The Board of Directors shall determine its method of operation as follows: The quorum for a meeting shall be the presence of at least fifty percent (50%) of the Board members. The legal quorum for decision-making shall be the approval of fifty-one percent (51%) of the members. Board members may delegate attendance at meetings.

Article Eighteen: Termination or Ending of a Board Membership

A Board member's membership shall terminate upon the expiration of their term or the expiration of their eligibility according to any applicable regulations or instructions in the Kingdom. The General Assembly may, based on a recommendation from the Board of Directors, terminate membership due to absence from attendance at three consecutive meetings or five non-consecutive meetings during the membership period without a valid excuse accepted by the Board of Directors.

Article Nineteen : Board Authorities

While respecting the Authorities assigned to the General Assembly, the Board of Directors shall possess the broadest authorities in managing the company's affairs in a manner that achieves its objectives and purposes.

The Board of Directors must obtain the approval of the General Assembly when selling assets whose value exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the total value of the company's assets, whether the sale is conducted through a single transaction or multiple transactions. In such cases, the transaction that results in exceeding the fifty percent (50%) threshold of the asset value shall be deemed the transaction requiring the approval of the General Assembly. This percentage shall be calculated based on the date of the first transaction completed within the preceding twelve (12) months. The Board of Directors, within the scope of its authority, may delegate one or more of its members, or others, to directly carry out a specific act or acts.

Article Twenty: Remuneration of Board Members

- 1. The remuneration of the Board of Directors shall consist of a fixed amount, an attendance allowance for meetings, in-kind benefits, and a percentage of the net profits, or such other remuneration as may be determined by the Ordinary General Assembly
- 2. The Board of Directors' report to the Ordinary General Assembly at its annual meeting shall include a comprehensive statement of all amounts received or entitled to be received by each member of the Board during the financial year, including remuneration, attendance allowances, travel allowances, and other benefits. It shall also include a statement of any amounts received by Board members in their capacity as employees or executives, or for technical, administrative, or consulting services rendered. In addition, the report shall include a statement showing the number of Board meetings held and the number of meetings each member attended.

3. Article Twenty-One: Powers of the Chairman, Vice Chairman, Managing Director, and Secretary

The Board of Directors shall, in its first meeting, appoint from among its members a Chairman of the Board, and it may also appoint from among its members a Managing Director. The Board shall also, in its first meeting, appoint from among its members a Vice Chairman.

- 1. The Board of Directors shall appoint a Chief Executive Officer from among its members or from outside the Board. The Chairman of the Board shall have the authority.

The Board of Directors shall appoint a Secretary, chosen from among its members or from outside the Board.

The Chairman of the Board may delegate, by a written resolution, some of his powers to other members of the Board or to third parties to carry out specific work or tasks.

The Vice Chairman of the Board shall replace the Chairman in his absence in cases where the Board has a Vice Chairman.

Article Twenty-Two: Termination of Board Membership – Additional Article

1. The membership of the Board of Directors shall terminate upon the expiry of the member's term, the member's resignation, the member's death, or upon a determination by the Board of Directors that the member has materially violated his duties in a manner detrimental to the interests of the Company, provided that such determination is approved by the Ordinary General Assembly. Membership shall also terminate pursuant to any applicable laws or regulations in the Kingdom, including cases where a member is declared bankrupt or insolvent, files for an arrangement or settlement with creditors, ceases to pay his debts, loses legal capacity, becomes mentally incapacitated, or is proven to have committed an act involving dishonesty, misconduct, or is convicted of a crime affecting honor or integrity.
2. The Ordinary General Assembly may, upon recommendation of the Board of Directors, terminate the membership of any member who fails—without a valid excuse acceptable to the Board—to attend three (3) consecutive meetings or five (5) non-consecutive meetings during the term of his membership.
3. The Ordinary General Assembly may, at any time, dismiss all or some members of the Board of Directors, without prejudice to the right of the dismissed member to claim compensation from the Company if the dismissal occurs without acceptable cause or at an inappropriate time. A Board member may resign provided that the resignation is submitted at an appropriate time; otherwise, the member shall be liable to the Company for any damages resulting from such resignation.
4. The Board of Directors must call the Ordinary General Assembly to convene sufficiently prior to the expiry of its term to elect a new Board for a new term. If the election cannot be conducted and the term of the current Board expires, its members shall continue performing their duties until a new Board is elected, provided that such continuation period does not exceed the timeframe specified in the Implementing Regulations of the Companies Law.
5. If the Chairman and members of the Board resign, they must call the Ordinary General Assembly to convene for the election of a new Board of Directors. The resignation shall not take effect until the new Board is elected, provided that the continuation period does not exceed the duration stipulated in the bylaws. The Board must take all necessary measures to ensure the election of a replacement Board before the end of the permitted continuation period.
6. A Board member may resign by submitting a written notice to the Chairman of the Board. If the Chairman resigns, the notice shall be submitted to the remaining members of the Board and to the Board Secretary. In all cases, the resignation shall be effective as of the date specified in the notice.

Article Twenty-Three: Vacant Board Seat – Additional Article

In the event that a seat on the Board of Directors becomes vacant due to the death or resignation of a member, and such vacancy does not affect the validity of the Board's meetings by reducing its composition below the minimum required, the Board may appoint a temporary member to fill the vacancy, provided that the appointee possesses the necessary expertise and competence. The appointment shall be presented to the Ordinary General Assembly at its first subsequent meeting, and the newly appointed member shall serve only the remainder of the predecessor's term. However, if the vacancy results in the Board's composition falling below the minimum required under the Companies Law or this Bylaw, the remaining members must call for an Ordinary General Assembly meeting within sixty (60) days to elect the required number of members.

Article Twenty-Four: Powers of the Board of Directors – Additional Article

Subject to the powers vested in the General Assembly, the Board of Directors shall have the broadest authorities to manage the Company in a manner that achieves its objectives, except for matters expressly reserved to the General Assembly under the Companies Law or this Bylaw. The Board shall have the authority to:

- a. Establish internal regulations governing its own work.
- b. Establish the Company's internal regulations and the control and compliance systems for all its operations.
- c. Approve the Company's vision, strategies, work plans, and annual operating and capital budgets, in addition to other related plans.
- d. Provide all necessary guarantees, including corporate guarantees, to secure facilities that may be granted to individuals, sole proprietorships, or companies, and approve all collateral arising from such facilities, including real estate mortgages, promissory notes, share certificates, and other financial or tangible securities. The Board may sign all contracts related to online or automated transactions, issue credits and banking guarantees, and sign all documents, instruments, checks, promissory notes, bills of exchange, and all banking transactions, as well as purchase and sell sukuk and all types of investments on behalf of the Company.
- e. Conclude all contracts and agreements, including but not limited to contracts of purchase, sale, lease, sublease, agency, franchise, financial hedging agreements, and all other documents, transactions, and deals on behalf of the Company, and participate in tenders on its behalf.
- f. Open, manage, operate, and close bank accounts; obtain loans and other credit facilities of any duration—including loans exceeding three (3) years—from government financing funds, commercial banks, financial institutions, credit companies, or any other credit entity; issue guarantees and sureties in favor of any party as the Board deems appropriate for the interest of the Company; issue promissory notes and other commercial papers; undertake all transactions; and conclude all agreements and financial deals, including the sale, mortgaging, and release of the Company's real estate and assets, and the discharge of the Company's debtors from their obligations.

- g. Provide financial support to any companies in which the Company participates, as well as to its subsidiaries.
- h. Approve the internal, financial, administrative, technical, and compliance regulations of the Company, and approve the policies and regulations related to its employees.
- i. Appoint and dismiss managers and executives responsible for managing the Company from among qualified and competent professionals, as the Board deems appropriate, and determine their duties, rights, and remuneration.
- j. Appoint accountants, experts, engineers, lawyers, agents, doctors, and similar professionals, and determine their fees.
- k. Authorize or delegate any person with certain powers for a specified duration and under conditions the Board deems appropriate.
- l. Delegate Company executives with the authority to sign on behalf of the Company within the limits of the rules set by the Board of Directors.
- m. Form committees and delegate to them such powers as the Board deems appropriate, and coordinate among these committees to ensure the prompt resolution of matters referred to them.
- n. Approve the establishment of branches, offices, and agencies of the Company, as well as partnerships and participation in any companies, and sign the relevant incorporation contracts, amendments, and appendices, whether inside or outside the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia.
- o. Establish, open, manage, and close the Company's investment portfolios and accounts in banks and investment companies inside and outside the Kingdom; buy and sell shares, sukuk, Saudi and non-Saudi securities, commodities, minerals, land, real estate, and similar assets; and establish companies and investment funds both inside and outside the Kingdom.

The Board, by majority vote and within its powers, may authorize one or more of its members or any other person to perform a specific task or tasks.

The Board of Directors must obtain the approval of the General Assembly when selling assets whose value exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the total value of the Company's assets, whether the sale takes place through a single transaction or multiple transactions. In such a case, the transaction that results in exceeding the fifty percent (50%) threshold shall be deemed the transaction requiring General Assembly approval. This percentage shall be calculated from the date of the first transaction concluded within the preceding twenty-four (24) months.

Within the limits of its authority, the Board may delegate one or more of its members or any other person to carry out a specific work or specific works.

Article Twenty- Five: Remuneration of the Board of Directors Members - Additional Article

The remuneration of the members of the Board of Directors may consist of a fixed amount, attendance fees for meetings, expense allowances, in-kind benefits, or a percentage of the profits. It is permissible to combine two or more of the above. An additional remuneration may also be determined for the Chairman of the Board, in addition to the remuneration set for the other Board members. The Board of Directors' report to the Ordinary General Assembly at its annual meeting must include a comprehensive statement of all amounts received or entitled to be received by the Board members during the financial year, including remuneration, attendance fees, expense allowances, and other benefits, as well as any amounts received by Board members in their capacity as employees or administrators, or amounts received for technical, administrative, or consultancy services provided to the company. The report must also include the total number of Board meetings held and the number of meetings attended by each member.

Article Twenty-Six: Powers of the Chairman, Vice Chairman, Managing Director, and Secretary – Additional Article

The Board of Directors appoints from among its members a Chairman and a Vice-Chairman. It may also appoint an Executive Director from among its members. No single member may hold the position of Chairman and any executive position in the company simultaneously. The Chairman has the authority to convene Board meetings and preside over them. The Chairman, or in his absence the Vice-Chairman, or anyone he delegates, represents the company before third parties, including courts, arbitration bodies, ministries, and other governmental authorities, and takes all necessary actions regarding such representation. The Board defines the powers and responsibilities of the Chairman in matters not specified in the company's regulations. The Chairman may delegate one or more persons to carry out a specific action, transaction, or task. The Vice-Chairman exercises the powers assigned to him by the Board, and the Executive Director, if appointed, exercises the powers assigned to him by the Board. The Board also determines, at its discretion, the special remuneration for the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and Executive Director, in addition to the remuneration set for other Board members under the company regulations. The Board appoints a Secretary of the Board, either from among its members or externally, and determines his remuneration. The Secretary is responsible for recording the minutes of Board meetings, documenting decisions issued in these meetings, preserving them, and performing other duties assigned by the Board. The term of office for the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Executive Director, and Secretary (if a Board member) does not exceed their membership in the Board, and they may always be reappointed

Article Twenty- Seven: Meetings of the Board of Directors

The Board shall convene upon the invitation of its Chairman at least four times per year. The invitation shall be in writing and may be delivered by hand or sent via modern technological means. It is incumbent upon the Chairman to invite the Board members to the meeting with the agenda attached for discussion on one or more topics. The Board of Directors shall determine the venue of its meetings, and meetings may be held using modern technological means.

Article Twenty-Eight: Quorum of Board Meetings -Additional Article

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Joint Stock Company shall not be valid unless attended by at least half of its members in person or by proxy. Board resolutions shall be adopted by a majority of the votes of the members present in person or by proxy, and in the event of a tie, the Chairman of the meeting shall have the casting vote. The Board of Directors shall determine the place of its meetings, and such meetings may be held using modern technological means. The Board may issue resolutions on urgent matters by circulation, provided that none of the members request in writing that the matter be discussed in a meeting. Circulated resolutions shall be approved by the majority of the Board members and shall be presented at the next Board meeting to be recorded in its minutes. A Board member may delegate another member to attend Board meetings on his behalf in accordance with the following:

(a) a member may not represent more than one other member in the same meeting; and (b) the proxy must be in writing, limited to a specific meeting, and may be sent via email. The proxy holder may not vote on matters for which the delegating member is prohibited from voting. Board resolutions shall be adopted by a majority of the opinions of the members present or represented, and in the event of a tie, the Chairman shall have the casting vote. The Board may also issue resolutions by circulation by presenting them to all members separately, unless any member requests in writing that the matter be discussed in a Board meeting. Such resolutions shall be deemed adopted once approved by the majority of Board members and shall be presented at the next Board meeting. A Board resolution shall take effect from the date of its issuance unless the resolution specifies another effective date or is subject to the fulfillment of certain conditions.

Article twenty-ninth: Minutes of Board Deliberations -Additional Article

The deliberations and resolutions of the Board of Directors shall be recorded in minutes signed by the Chairman of the Board, the attending Board members, and the Board Secretary. These minutes shall be entered into a dedicated register signed by the Chairman and the Secretary. Modern technological means may be used for signing, documenting deliberations and resolutions, and recording the minutes.

Chapter Four: Shareholders' General Assemblies

Article Thirty: Invitation to Assemblies

1. General and special assemblies shall be convened by invitation from the Board of Directors. The Board must invite the Ordinary General Assembly to convene within thirty days from the date of the request of the shareholders representing at least ten percent (ten percent) of the company's shares carrying voting rights at minimum. The auditor has the right to call the Ordinary General Assembly to convene if the Board of Directors does not issue the call within thirty (30) days of the auditor's request

2. The request referred to in paragraph (1) of this Article shall be voted on by the shareholders.

3. The invitation to convene the Assembly shall be issued at least one clear day before the scheduled date, in accordance with the provisions of the Articles, taking into consideration the following:

a. Informing the shareholders by letters registered to their addresses recorded in the shareholders' register, or by announcing the invitation through modern technological means.

b. Sending a copy of the invitation and the agenda to the commercial register, as well as a copy to the Capital Market Authority if the company is listed on the stock market as of the date of the invitation announcement.

4. The invitation to the Assembly shall include at least the following:

a. A statement of the right to attend the Assembly meeting and the right to appoint a proxy from among the absent Board members, a statement of the shareholders' right to discuss the matters on the Assembly's agenda, and instructions on how to exercise the voting right.

b. The venue, date, and time of the meeting.

c. The type of Assembly, whether ordinary or extraordinary.

d. The agenda of the meeting includes the items to be voted on by the shareholders

Article Thirty-One: Voting in the General Assembly

The election of the Board of Directors members shall be by cumulative voting. Board members are not allowed to participate in voting on General Assembly resolutions related to contracts and transactions in which they have a direct or indirect interest, or which may result in a conflict of interest.

Article Thirty-Two: Preparation of the General Assembly Minutes

Minutes of the General Assembly meeting shall be prepared, including the number of shareholders present either in person or by proxy, the number of shares they hold either directly or by proxy, the number of votes cast for each resolution, the decisions made, the number of votes agreeing or disagreeing, and a summary of the discussions held during the meeting. The minutes shall be recorded in an organized manner for each meeting in a special register signed by the Chairman of the General Assembly, its secretary, and the vote collectors.

Article Thirty- Three: Attendance of the General Assembly

The validly formed General Assembly shall represent all shareholders. It should be convened in the city where the company's headquarters is located. The General Assembly meetings may also be held remotely through technical communication means. Every shareholder has the right to attend the General Assembly and may authorize in writing another person other than a Board member or company employee to attend on their behalf.

Article Thirty- Four: The Ordinary General Assembly

Except for matters falling within the jurisdiction of the Extraordinary General Assembly, the Ordinary General Assembly shall be concerned with all matters related to the company. It shall be convened at least once annually within six months after the end of the company's financial year. Other Ordinary General Assemblies may be convened whenever necessary

Article Thirty- Five: The Extraordinary General Assembly

The Extraordinary General Assembly shall be concerned with amending the Articles of Association, except for the provisions whose amendment is legally prohibited. It may issue resolutions on internal matters within the jurisdiction of the Ordinary General Assembly, using the same votes and quorums required for the Ordinary General Assembly

Article Thirty-Six: Calling of General Assemblies – Additional Article:

General or special assemblies of shareholders shall be convened by the Board of Directors. The Board must call the Ordinary General Assembly to convene if requested by the auditor, the Audit Committee, or a number of shareholders representing at least 10% of the share capital. The auditor may also call the assembly to convene if the Board fails to issue the call within thirty (30) days from the date of the auditor's request. The notice for convening the assembly shall be sent at least twenty-one (21) days prior to the scheduled meeting date, and shareholders shall be notified through registered mail sent to their addresses recorded in the shareholders' register, or through modern technological means. A copy of the meeting notice and agenda shall also be submitted to the Capital Market Authority within the prescribed time for publication. The notice of the assembly must include, at a minimum, a statement specifying the person entitled to attend the meeting and their right to appoint a proxy who is not a Board member, a statement of the shareholder's right to discuss the items listed on the agenda and raise questions, the method of exercising voting rights, the place, date, and time of the meeting, the type of assembly (general or special), and the meeting agenda including the items requiring shareholder voting.

Article Thirty-Seven: Attendance Register for Assemblies

Shareholders wishing to attend the general or special assembly shall register their names at the Company's head office or at their place of residence prior to the scheduled time of the meeting. Upon convening the assembly, a register shall be prepared listing the names of shareholders present or represented, their places of residence, the number of shares they hold either personally or by proxy, and the number of votes allocated thereto. This register shall be accessible to any interested party. Shareholders wishing to attend assemblies and vote on their resolutions may also be registered electronically whenever such option is available.

Article Thirty- Eight: Quorum of the Ordinary General Assembly

The Ordinary General Assembly shall not be validly convened unless shareholders representing at least one quarter of the company's shares with voting rights are present. If this quorum is not met in the first meeting, the invitation shall be directed to a second meeting to be held within thirty days following the date of the first meeting. It is permissible to hold the second meeting one hour after the expiry of the specified period for convening the first meeting. The invitation to convene the first meeting must include a notice of the possibility of holding this second meeting. The second meeting shall be validly convened regardless of the number of shares represented therein.

Article Thirty- Nine: Quorum of the Extraordinary General Assembly

The Extraordinary General Assembly shall not be validly convened unless shareholders representing at least fifty percent (one half) of the company's shares with voting rights are present. If this quorum is not met in the first meeting, a second meeting shall be called. The second meeting may be held one hour after the expiry of the specified period for convening the first meeting, provided that the invitation to convene the first meeting includes a notice of the possibility of holding this second meeting. The second meeting shall be validly convened if shareholders representing at least one quarter of the company's shares with voting rights are present.

If the required quorum is not met in the second meeting, a third meeting shall be called under the conditions stipulated in the company's Articles of Association. The third meeting shall be valid regardless of the number of shares represented therein, subject to the approval of the competent authority.

Article Forty: Voting in Assemblies

Each shareholder shall have one vote for every share they represent in the General Assembly. Votes in the Ordinary General Assembly and the Extraordinary General Assembly are counted based on one vote per share. However, cumulative voting shall be used when electing members of the Board of Directors in the shareholders' assembly.

Board members are not permitted to participate in voting on General Assembly decisions related to discharging their liability for the duration of their management term or decisions related to any direct or indirect interest they may have.

Article Forty-one: Resolutions

Resolutions of the Ordinary General Assembly shall be issued by the majority of the voting rights represented in the meeting. Resolutions of the Extraordinary General Assembly shall be issued by the majority of two-thirds of the shares represented in the meeting, except if the resolution concerns an increase or decrease in capital, extension of the company's term, dissolution of the company before the expiry of the specified term in its Articles, merger with another company or institution, or division into two or more companies. In such cases, the resolution shall only be valid if issued by a majority of three-quarters of the shares represented in the meeting.

Article Forty-Two: Discussion in Assemblies

Every shareholder has the right to discuss the topics listed in the agenda of the General Assemblies and to direct questions regarding them to the members of the Board of Directors and the auditor. The Board of Directors or the auditor shall respond to the shareholders' questions to the extent that does not conflict with the company's interest. If a shareholder finds the response to their question unsatisfactory, the matter shall be referred to the General Assembly for judgment, and its decision on this matter shall be final and binding.

Article Forty-Three: Chairing Assemblies and Preparing Minutes

The General Assembly of shareholders is chaired by the Chairman of the Board or, in his absence, by his deputy, or by a person delegated by the Board from among its members. If both the Chairman and his deputy are absent and delegation by the Board is not possible, the Assembly is chaired by a person elected by the shareholders from among the Board members or others through voting. The chairperson appoints a secretary for the meeting and a vote collector. A minute of the Assembly meeting is prepared, including the names of attending or represented shareholders, the number of shares they hold directly or by proxy, the votes allocated to them, the decisions taken, the decisions approved or opposed, and a comprehensive summary of the discussions during the meeting. The minutes are regularly recorded in a special register and signed by the chairperson, the secretary, and the vote collector.

It is permissible to hold a general assembly meeting, and for shareholders to participate in the deliberations and vote on decisions through modern technological means.

Chapter Five: Auditors

Article Forty-Four: Appointment and Removal of Auditors

The auditor or any of the auditors licensed to practice in the company shall be appointed by the general assembly, which shall determine their remuneration, term of office, and scope of work. Reappointment is permissible, provided that the term does not exceed the period specified under the approved regulations.

Pursuant to a resolution of the general assembly, the auditor may be dismissed. The chairman of the board of directors shall notify the competent authority of the dismissal decision and its reasons within five days from the date of issuance of the resolution.

The auditor shall perform their duties by submitting a written report to the board. Their duties end either on the date the report is submitted or on a later date specified in the notification, without prejudice to the auditor's right to claim compensation for any damages incurred if entitled.

The outgoing auditor must provide the board and the competent authority—at the time of submitting the notification—with a statement of the reasons for their dismissal, and the board of directors shall convene the general assembly to review the reasons for the dismissal and appoint another auditor, specifying their remuneration, term of office, and scope of work.

Article Forty-Five: Powers of Auditors

Auditors shall have the right at any time to examine the company's books, records, and relevant documents. They are also entitled to request statements and clarifications they deem necessary to verify the company's assets, liabilities, and other matters within the scope of their work.

The chairman of the board of directors must enable the auditors to perform their duties. If the auditors encounter any difficulties in exercising their rights, they must record these issues in a report submitted to the board of directors.

If the board fails to facilitate the auditors' work, the auditors have the right to request that the ordinary general assembly be convened to consider the matter.

Chapter Six: Company Financials and Profit Distribution

Article Forty-six:

Financial Year of the Company The company's financial year shall correspond to the calendar year, commencing on January 1st and ending on December 31st.

Article Forty-Seven: Financial Documents

The Board of Directors may, at the end of each financial year, prepare the company's financial statements and a report on its activities and financial position for the concluded financial year. This report shall include the proposed method for profit distribution. The board shall make these documents available to the auditors at least forty-five (45) days prior to the date scheduled for the ordinary General Assembly meeting. The chairman of the Board, the CEO, and the Chief Financial Officer shall sign these documents, and a copy shall be deposited at the company's headquarters for the shareholders' access. The chairman shall provide the shareholders with the financial statements, the Board's report after signing, and the auditors' report, in accordance with the Companies Law and the executive regulations.

Article Forty-Eight: Profit Distribution

The general assembly determines the percentage of net profits to be distributed to shareholders after deducting any applicable reserves. The ordinary general assembly may set aside a portion of the net profits to form reserves, provided that the use of these reserves is based on a recommendation from the board of directors and in a manner that benefits the company or its shareholders, ensuring the possibility of distributing stable profits to shareholders to the extent feasible.

The general assembly may also allocate amounts from the net profits to achieve social objectives for the company's employees. The assembly may decide to distribute profits on an annual, semi-annual, or quarterly basis, and the board of directors may be authorized to implement this decision.

Article Forty-Nine: Profit Payment

A shareholder is entitled to their share of profits in accordance with the decision of the general assembly issued in this regard. The decision shall specify the entitlement date and the distribution date, and the entitlement shall be based on the shares recorded in the shareholders' register at the end of the specified entitlement date. The board of directors is responsible for implementing the general assembly's decision regarding the distribution of profits to shareholders.

Article Fifty: Company Losses

If the losses of the company reach half of the issued capital, it is the duty of the Board of Directors to disclose this and to provide recommendations regarding those losses within six days from the date they become aware of this amount. The Ordinary General Assembly shall convene within 180 days from the date of knowledge to consider whether the company should continue or take necessary actions to address or resolve these losses.

Chapter Seven: Company Dissolution and Liquidation

Article Fifty- one: Liability Claim

The company may file a liability claim against members of the Board of Directors due to violations of the Companies Law or its regulations, or due to errors, negligence, or failure in their duties resulting in damages to the company. The General Assembly or the shareholders may file this claim and appoint a representative on behalf of the company to initiate it. If the company is in liquidation, the net liquidator may file the claim. If any liquidation procedures have started against the company according to bankruptcy regulations, the claim shall be filed by the bankruptcy trustee. Shareholders or those representing at least 5% of the company's capital may file a liability claim on behalf of the company if the company fails to do so. The purpose of filing the claim must primarily be to protect the company's interests, and the claim must be founded on valid grounds, with the claimant acting in good faith and being a shareholder at the time of filing. The claim filer shall notify the Board of Directors members at least 45 days before filing the claim. Shareholders may file a personal claim against Board members if the mistake caused them personal harm.

Article Fifty-Two: Dissolution of the Company

The company shall be dissolved for any of the reasons specified in the Companies Law, and upon dissolution, liquidation shall commence according to the provisions of the Companies Law.

If the company is dissolved and its assets are insufficient to pay its debts or if it is bankrupt, it must apply to the competent judicial authority to start liquidation procedures under bankruptcy law.
